

THE ISSUE

JOIN THE DEBATE.

UNPARALLELED RED VIRUS OUTBREAK

BY FANTASTIC FOUR

The fight against the so-called Red Virus continues with news of a new outbreak in Australia. Infected cases have been confirmed in Sydney, Melbourne and Darwin. Although the virus was discovered less than a month ago, current estimates place over half of the global population at risk of infection.

On 5 July, scientists, doctors, and policymakers will meet in Geneva to discuss a coordinated, global response to stop the alarming spread of the deadly virus.

IN THIS ISSUE:

01

Meet the scientists working on a cure

02

WHO in deadlock

03

The outbreak reaches Australia