YUCK! Remember when we still ate meat? – how meat eating became as socially acceptable as smoking

Read how meat cell production changed our way of life, having an enormous reduction to agricultural greenhouse gas emissions and increased animal welfare. Page 2.

Running wild and free – McDonald's buried

The era of "happy" meals is over. The world's last McDonald's closed its doors yesterday in New York. Read more on page 4.

Environmental migration increasing

Despite our efforts the climate change is speeding up. See page 5.
