The problems of 2030... It is a very interesting topic, isn't it? What could possibly the people who live in 2030 be worried about? Although the time that separates us from this "Finish line", so to speak, is really not that long - only 13 years to be exact, we still have to acknowledge the fact that the world is changing rapidly at every single moment. And even if the problems of "tomorrow" are not drastically different from the ones we face "today", we can't neglect that they may as well become even more serious. There's no telling if it's going to be World War III, or a Climate disaster but one thing is for sure – people can and should do something to prevent that problem.

Of course cultural and social trends will have an impact on humanity by 2030. Religions as well. They are playing a crucial role as a rescue from daily life. People are being led by their faith in one or more gods. However nowadays they are losing faith. Religions tend to be used for political purposes. The situation will become worse if we don't do something about it. Each one of us should have the right to choose which religion to practice and what their sexual orientation would be- to have human rights. Religions should be peaceful and help people live in harmony with themselves and others around them. Unfortunately the future doesn't look that bright. By 2030 people will be afraid of being attacked because of their beliefs.

Climate change is real! It will continue to bother people for at least the next 100 years let alone by 2030. Although this is a natural process that affects the Earth, global warming is one of the main factors that accelerates it. What can we, the citizens do to preserve our planet? For instance we can reduce harmful carbon dioxide emissions by using public transit, taking less airplane trips and walk on foot more. So what are YOU going to do?

By 2030 terrorist attacks could turn into something much bigger than we can think of. Yes, it is expected that technologies will develop to a whole new level, but people will be afraid. We are all the same. We all have the same intellectual capacity, but unfortunately our views of what is right and what is wrong are completely different! That is why we should be prepared for the worst scenario that can happen.

The world is growing. The technologies are growing. People's minds are growing. Yet it's not only about terror, fear, hope and love. It's about change, about knowledge, about facts, statistics and difference. A difference, which includes all of the great changes. A difference in the way of thinking.

You may be the same individuals, your eyes, your mouths, your arms and hearts may still remain the same, but the way you see things, the way you communicate, the way you accelerate and assemble new information is the key for a big door of the new era.

So what do YOU think? What are the people in 2030 worried about?
