

The data files are associated with the publication:

First true blood pressure measurement; with arterial opening micro-pulse detection

Alan Murray^{1*}, Dingchang Zheng², Clive J. Griffiths¹, Chengyu Liu³, David J. Graham¹, Jeff Neasham¹ & Adrian J. Cossor⁴

Author information

- 1 Engineering School & Medical Faculty, Newcastle University, Newcastle upon Tyne, UK
 Alan Murray <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-2621-4632>
 Clive J. Griffiths <https://orcid.org/0009-0000-2919-3975>
 David J. Graham
 Jeff Neasham <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-6059-9826>
- 2 Centre for Intelligent Healthcare, Coventry University, Coventry, UK
 Dingchang Zheng <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-8077-4548>
- 3 School of Instrument Science and Engineering, Southeast University, Nanjing, China
 Chengyu Liu <https://orcid.org/0000-0003-1965-3020>
- 4 A C Cossor & Son (Technology) Ltd, Anstey, UK
 Adrian J. Cossor

*Correspondence to: alan.murray@newcastle.ac.uk

This research is for an innovative method for automating blood pressure measurement to provide a true value, rather than an estimate given by current automated devices.

Research funded by EPSRC