

Physiology Friday - Media Consent Form

The purpose of this form is to register your consent for any media in which you are identifiable used to publicise the events surrounding Physiology Friday on 12th November 2021 at Newcastle University.

Images, videos and/or quotes obtained from interviews may be used to publicise the event on university (and associated) social media accounts (including blog sites) and for reporting back to the Physiological Society.

Images, videos, transcripts and other resources will be stored on a University data storage site which may later be made publicly accessible as an open repository to reflect on the event.

Images, videos, transcripts or other resources published on social media channels, blogs or via the web repository may remain accessible indefinitely.

By completing this form, you agree that:

- Newcastle University may use these forms of identifiable media in promotional material relating to Physiology Friday, and that these may remain publicly accessible indefinitely
- Such media may be shared with the Physiological Society and its members to be utilised as promotional material
- Media may be edited for clarity, or to merge with other forms of media, in the interests of producing such promotional material

Ethical approval has been sought and granted by Newcastle University's Ethics Committee, ref 15723/2021.

Name *

First

Last

Email *

I consent to the use of media as defined above *

- ☐ Yes
☐ No

If 'No' above; I consent to the use of anonymised quotations from my interviews being used in promotional media as defined above

- ☒ Yes
☐ No

Date *

MM

DD

YYYY

Data Protection Statement

The information provided in this form will be kept for five years before being removed and deleted. Your details will not be passed on to third parties. If you want to remove content or consent please email harley.stevenson-cocks@newcastle.ac.uk.

Submit